A Busy Summer at SnowCap

Summer is in full swing and soon it will be time for kids to go back to school. This year will be more difficult for many families because of the rising costs of, well, everything. SnowCap clients have shared how they are stretching their budgets to make ends meet- and continue to struggle.

SnowCap recently served more clients in a single day AND in a single month than any other day or month in our 56-year history. This increase in need is not expected to go away anytime soon.

A mom of three boys emailed me today. She shared that she recently became unemployed and that her children have outgrown their clothing; can SnowCap help? With your support, we can say yes!

Please take a look at the list on the other side of this newsletter for ways you can help SnowCap prepare for the busy months ahead. Financial support is particularly critical at this time, along with gently-used clothing (especially elementary school sizes!), new underwear and school supplies.

"I needed help with food and TriMet fare; SnowCap came through THE NEXT DAY!"- Recent Client

Thank you for making it possible to say yes to our neighbors when times are hard.

Gratefully,

Kirsten Wageman
